

USER STORY

Hillstaurant- Restaurant Table Booking

In Agile a user story, informal plain language description of what a user wants to do within a software product to gain something they find valuable.

It follows:

- As a [type of user]
 - I want [an action]
 - So that [a benefit/value]
- As a Customer, I registered and then logged into account, so that I can reserve table and order food.
 - As a customer, I viewed the seat type and add a table so that I can pre-order a table.
 - As a Customer, I viewed the category and selected an item to the cart so that I can order the item.
 - As a Customer I ordered an item from menu so that I do my payment procedure.
 - As a Customer I have done the payment so that I reserved table and ordered food.
